

Figure S2. All the control larvae developed well without any obvious disease symptoms (A); the Apis-infected larvae developed typical chalkbrood symptoms at 6 days post-infection (B), and the percentage of larvae covered with white, cotton-like mycelium was 77% (37/48) in this 48-well microtiter plate.