Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue invites researchers and academics to submit their work addressing the following questions:

- How is sustainable development related to the flow and stock of FDI and trade in emerging economies?
- What are the country- and firm-level determinants of investment and trade in socially responsible behaviour or ESG strategies by foreign investors? Does ownership matter? Do institutions matter?
- What may be the impact of environmental, social and governance (ESG) reputations on firms' performance?
- How have international trade and FDI impacted the key areas of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of (i) green innovations, (ii) job quality and skills, (iii) gender equality, (iv) sustainable business practices and (v) sustainable consumption patterns.
- How responsible—and how successful—are foreign investors in cross-border environmental management and the transfer of environmentally sound technologies?
- What lessons can we learn from the success stories and failures of foreign investors?
