

Dear Colleagues,

As Editor-in-Chief of C, I am pleased to announce the winner of the 2017 C Travel Award:

The award was granted to Dr. Stefano Cinti, a postdoctoral research fellow at the University of Rome “Tor Vergata”, Italy, who works in the field of analytical chemistry. His current research centers on the field of nanobiosensing systems, in general, and in particular designing printed electrochemical biosensors and paper-based sensing technologies for diagnostics and other applications.

We congratulate him on his excellent work and would further like to thank all applicants for their interesting and high quality contributions. We also wish to thank the Selection Committee members, Drs. Camélia Matei Ghimbeu, Enrico Andreoli, I. Francis Cheng and Jandro L. Abot, for their evaluation of the candidates.

Dr. Craig E. Banks
Editor-in-Chief
