Message from the Guest Editor

Dermatopathology runs Special Issues to create collections of papers on specific topics. The aim is to build a community of authors and readers to discuss the latest research and develop new ideas and directions of research. Guest Editors who are experts in the subject and oversee the editorial process for papers lead Special Issues.

Now we start a new initiative—we aim to collect and publish case reports as teaching tools in dermatopathology. With this in mind, we would like to dedicate this Special Issue to the discussion of teaching cases in dermatopathology. We would like to share experience: if a case has challenged us, it will probably challenge and intrigue others, and reading about it may give a clue, or at least a hint, for a better understanding.

Please send us your latest case report highlighting the main message and the difficulties you experienced on the way to diagnosis and/or in their management.
