Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue is dedicated to energy performance, HVAC, and other technical systems, and indoor climate analyses in buildings. Articles dealing both with new and renovated, low energy and nearly zero energy buildings (NZEB) are welcomed.

Benchmarking, assessment of technical solutions needed for NZEB, performance analyses of HVAC systems, cost optimality, and energy flexibility measures in the context of new smart readiness indicators are some examples of topics which are highly welcome in this Special Issue.
