Message from the Guest Editor

The continuous growth of older populations, as a consequence of demographic changes in Europe, is a huge challenge. To prevent costly and negative impacts effects on the population as a whole, it is crucial that the European societies increase their knowledge of promoting good health among older people, to promote good health and a better quality of life in later stages.

This Special Issue will evaluate the societal challenges of healthy aging, its impact in recent years, and future steps.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Addressing the environmental and public health challenges requires engagement and collaboration among clinicians and public health researchers. Discovery and advances in this research field play a critical role in providing a scientific basis for decision-making toward control and prevention of human diseases, especially the illnesses that are induced from environmental exposure to health hazards. IJERPH provides a forum for discussion of discoveries and knowledge in these multidisciplinary fields. Please consider publishing your research in this high quality, peer-reviewed, open access journal.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, PubMed, MEDLINE, PMC, Embase, GEOBASE, CAPus / SciFinder, and other databases.
