Process system engineers are entering a new era of control and optimization of complex process systems. Motivated by this, the objective of this Special Issue is to provide an open forum for researchers who work on the control and optimization of complex process systems to share some of their recent results and to stimulate further research in this important area. Contributions are invited on topics that include theoretical results and methodological advances towards the analysis and control of canonical complex process systems, as well as the application of state-of-theart control and optimization methodologies to new, industrially important complex process systems, which have not received much attention.

The journal Mathematics publishes high-quality, refereed papers that treat both pure and applied mathematics. The iournal highlights articles devoted to the mathematical treatment of questions arising in physics, chemistry, biology, statistics, finance, computer science, engineering sociology. particularly those that and stress analytical/algebraic aspects and novel problems and their solutions. One of the missions of the journal is to serve mathematicians and scientists through the prompt publication of significant advances in any branch of science and technology, and to provide a forum for the discussion of new scientific developments.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), RePEc, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Mathematics) / CiteScore - Q1 (General Mathematics)
