The Special Issue on "Modelling, Monitoring, Control and Optimization for Complex Industrial Processes " aims to provide a forum for researchers and engineers to report their recent results, exchange research ideas, and overlook emerging research and application directions in modelling, condition monitoring, optimization and advanced control for complex industrial processes.

Potential topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Complex dynamic analysis and modelling of industrial processes
- Data-driven modelling approaches for complex industrial processes
- Multiscale dynamic simulations of industrial processes
- Condition monitoring and fault diagnosis techniques
- Prognosis and predictive maintenance for complex industrial systems
- Advanced optimization methodologies
- Resilient control techniques
- Advanced approaches and techniques for cyber–physical systems
- Validation and real-time applications

Processes (ISSN 2227-9717) provides an advanced forum for process/system-related research in chemistry, biology, material, energy, environment, food, pharmaceutical, manufacturing and allied engineering fields. The journal publishes regular research papers, communications, letters, short notes and reviews. Our aim is to encourage researchers to publish their experimental, theoretical and computational results in as much detail as necessary. There is no restriction on paper length or number of figures and tables.
